Ensuring the safety of people across the province

The British Columbia Safety Authority is an independent, self-funded corporation that provides cost-effective and essential safety services to business, industry and the general public throughout the province. Whether we're certifying a gas fitter, issuing an operating permit for a new boiler or inspecting a homeowner's wiring, we're working to make our communities safer.

We are responsible for overseeing the safety of the following industry sectors in British Columbia

- amusement rides and recreational railways;
- boilers, pressure vessels and refrigeration systems;
- electrical equipment and systems;
- elevating devices;
- gas appliances and systems;
- passenger ropeways such as ski-lifts; and
- railways.
